Excerpt from Persons and Pictures From the Histories of France and England: From the Norman Conquest to the Fall of the Stuarts The persons introduced, are invariably true Historic personages, delineated with a pen as candid and as free from prejudice as the author knows how to wield. The Pictures and Scenes, if in some instances fictitious, are drawn, it is believed, with perfect fidelity to the costume of the day, the spirit of the times, and the character of the persons brought upon the stage as actors. The whole, it is hoped, will be found to exhibit a series of lively and dramatic views of some of the most celebrated individuals, some of the most remarkable instances of vice and Virtue, heroism and fortitude, and some of the most picturesque events, which occur in the history of six eventful centuries. In any case, no word will be found in them inconsistent with either the letter or the spirit of History none, assuredly, overstep ping the modesty of nature.
