Automobiles 1913 - 1915 [vintage cars: Ford, Cadillac, Pierce-Arrow, Studebaker].

By American Machinist Magazine.

Lindsay Publications, 2003. Condition: New. Reprint of vintage magazine articles from American Machinist. Large format paperback, 160 pages packed with photos, drawings and much small print. "Explore the shops of Crane, Winton, Hupp, Studebaker, Cadillac, White, Pierce-Arrow, Ford and others. Watch as workmen lift a Model "T" block into an upside down drill press and with one pull of the handle drill all the holes for main bearing caps. Watch as bar stock is cut, bent into horseshoes and magnetized to become the "T" magneto. Watch as 95 tubes are quickly assembled into a "T" Radiator. You'll watch workman in Birmingham England ram up molds and pour aluminum into them to create crankcases for Daimler engines. You'll explore the machine that takes a roll of flat stock and creates radiator tubes with both circular and oval cross-sections, and does it fast! See how wire wheels were made. You'll see the countless work benches where gangs of men assembled "T" engines before the assembly line was installed. You'll watch as the main bearings in a Pierce-Arrow block were line-reamed rather than hand-scraped as before. You'll see workmen putting wooden wheels on the rear axle of a White touring car, and dual...
