Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Polymers: Technical Activities 1987 There are many opportunities for innovation and cost savings that could be realized through more intelligent design and control of processing. Industry trends already reflect a need for more research on the fundamental principles involved in the processing of polymers. We have begun to study some applications of novel sensors for viscosity, flow, and mixing that are the beginning of an increased emphasis on providing this science base. One of the ways in which we provide technical services to industry and the scientific community is by making major measurement facilities available for collaborative research or, in some cases, for proprietary measurements. This past year we have opened up our 10-meter small angle x-ray scattering facility to outside users. These users have been interested in the structure of novel blend systems, the structure of high strength fibers, and measurement of structure in processed sheet and film. The facility is useful in measuring structures on a size scale in the 1 to 100 nanometer range. We welcome inquires from any other potential users. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy. In rare cases, an imperfection in the original, such as a blemish or missing page, may be replicated in our edition. We do, however, repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully; any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works.
