When Eliza was thirteen, she was shuffling through a turnstile of foster homes when she met a mysterious doctor who seemed to understand the strange extrasensory abilities awoken in her after her parents deaths. A few years later, as she finds herself living in seclusion in Dr. Conners s lab, Eliza realizes that she s not ready to sacrifice control of her life for the sake of security. Eliza can travel through time, and Dr. Conners and his financier want to put Eliza s talents to suspicious use. She knows she can t trust anyone at the lab but Jason Bray, a handsome young researcher. As Eliza and Jason become closer, she s more convinced that she has to escape. But where will she go? And how will she learn to control her powers? Eliza s time travel isn t without limits. She can t interact with others during her visits to the past, she can t see before her own birth, and she definitely can t change the past. Or can she? As she fights to free herself from Dr. Conners s grip, Eliza will learn that she s the only one who is ultimately in charge of her fate-and maybe the fates of many others.
