Excerpt from On the Treatment of Ovarian Cysts by Electrolysis In cases of uterine fibroma I suggest, as a modification of -dr. Cutter s method of proceeding, to apply mild, constant currents for a couple of hours or more every day, by the introduction of one pole into the womb (if possible), or to the cervix uteri, and the other into the tumor; and even percutan electrolysis might be tried, before any painful application is resorted to. It may, perhaps, take more time, but, as such a treatment causes no pain nor serious inconvenience, and carries with it no danger, it might be tried.
