Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Bankruptcy of Religion The war has succeeded in enkindling an interest in religion which recalls the Victorian struggle of science and theology. It is not questioned by the clergy that there has been for some decades an increasing deafness to their appeals; nor will it be questioned by most of the opponents of the clergy that this decay of church-going was very largely due to a weariness of appeal and counter-appeal. We have outlived the days when a Bradlaugh or a Brewin Grant could attract an immense and enthusiastic crowd of artisans to hear a spirited argument about the immortality of their souls. This is not so much due to levity as to the appalling growth of the controversy. Under the pressure of a searching and many-sided criticism religious discussion has assumed almost the proportions of an encyclopedia. Busy men and women have not time to read it all; and they are warned not to form a dogmatic opinion until they have read both sides. They have retorted by declining to read either side. Life is just large enough, they say, for work and a little play and a little thinking about our material interests. Let us eat and drink, for to-morrow we die.
