

That Other Juana: Queen Juana I of Spain (Juana La Loca)

By Linda Carlino

VeritasPublishing. Paperback. Condition: New. 329 pages. Brief SynopsisThat Other JuanaQueen Juana I of Spain(Juana La Loca)A story of obsessive love, uncontrolled passion and cruel, cynical betrayalThat Other Juana is the story of Queen Juana I of Spain (14791555), daughter of Ferdinand and Isabel, sister of Catherine of Aragn, mother of Charles V (Holy Roman Emperor) and grandmother of Philip II. Juana, a remarkable woman of her times, was highly intelligent and talented, had her own strongly held views and opinions, was daring and valiant, was always faithful to her high moral and ethical principles, but at times, was a victim of her strong emotions. A founder of the powerful Hapsburg dynasties of Spain and Austria, she never knew or enjoyed their fortunes. Instead, throughout her long life, she suffered at the hands of three men driven by their insatiable thirst for power. Her husband, Philip the Fair, the handsome Archduke of Austria, with whom she fell hopelessly and passionately in love at first sight, is her first tormentor. From the start he schemes to get all power and influence for himself. He denies her her rightful status and her own money, and subjects her to physical and mental abuse; he...
