THE CLAIMS OF CAPITAL CONSIDERED (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 42 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.1in. Excerpt from The Claims of Capital Considered But the truth lies at our hand. The working man is not able, by his own work, to produce for himself and also for the capitalist. It is beyond his capacity to do so. The very tools, in that case, instead of being an aid become an oppression to him. To be able, as some may say, by an ingenious turn of the wheel of fortune, to take all the appliances of labor, all the inventions of industry, out of its hands, and then put them back again with a demand that all the visible produce of labor shall go into the pockets of others than those who toil, is an utter subversion of what is just and right, a complete destruction of every principle in political economy. You may urge that possession is nine points in law, but I am bound to tell you, on the part of the working world, that this, accomplished, will ruin industry so thoroughly that there will not be much to choose between white slavery and black.
