

Advocate of Peace, 1924, Vol. 86 (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By Arthur Deerin Call

Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Advocate of Peace, 1924, Vol. 86 If our international perspective be clear, we shall not lose sight of the existing machinery for international arbitration, machinery for which the United States is in no small sense responsible. Here is a system which has operated in nearly a score of disputes, doing no violence to our traditional independence. For business or for politics, there is plenty of machinery for the application of the principles of good offices, mediation, inquiry, and conciliation. If nations were peacefully minded, there is machinery enough at hand to maintain the peace. If nations are war-minded, no machinery can stop them from war. We have international law. The World War did not destroy this international law; indeed, the war was fought in defense of international law. International law is the warp and woof of diplomacy and of all the other means of settling international disputes. The Hague system represents the most rational attempt the world has ever seen to advance international law. This Hague system still exists. It was not accident that led the League of...
