GOD SAVE AFRICA

Jill Parris Dez 2015, 2015. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 210x148x13 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - This book follows a six months journey of a Zulu man born under Apartheid and raised in the new South Africa. It is set in the first half of 2015 and captures Themba's dream for a future beyond freedom. The invitation to the reader is to believe in themselves and work together for change before it is too late. My dearest children, I write this to be read on your twenty first birthday because I want you to understand why I was not able to fulfil my deepest desire to be a hands on dad. As you know I grew up without a father so understand how difficult this can be. My father died in the pursuit of South Africa's freedom from Apartheid. His dream seemed to be realised when Mandela became our president. However this slowly faded as the ANC started to put themselves ahead of their people. As a reporter I was engaged in trying to keep the dream alive but when this became too dangerous your mother and I decided that she would take you out of the country. I am pleased with how well you have settled and integrated into your new home. I love the people you have become but am overwhelmed with sadness that I had so little to do with your growing up years. The choice was mine. Your loss of connection with Africa and your heritage was the result. I am sorry. If only South Africans had been prepared to take democracy back while they had the chance. That is now past and it is time for you to hear the whole story. Love Tata. 242 pp. Englisch.
