

Render Up the Body: A Novel of Suspense

By Wesson, Marianne

HarperCollins, Scranton, Pennsylvania, U.S.A., 1998. Hard Cover. Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. A decomposed body is found high in the mountains of central Colorado. The remains are identified as those of Nicole Marie Caswell, age twenty-two. Ten months later Jason Smiley is arrested and charged with Nicole Caswell's rape and murder. Long before Smiley's arrest, Cinda Hayes had become disillusioned working as chief sex-crimes prosecutor for the Boulder County District Attorney's Office - a job muddled by too many calculating egos, too much machismo, and not enough decency. When the opportunity arises for her to become director of the Boulder County Rape Crisis Center, she doesn't think twice - she jumps at the chance to leave the practice of law behind. But six months after Jason Smiley is convicted and sentenced to death, Cinda is abruptly summoned by her old mentor, Justice Hilton James of the Colorado Supreme Court, and told that the state has chosen her to handle Smiley's appeal. The appointment creates obvious conflicts for Cinda - her new profession is built on defending rape victims - but Justice James assures her that she will not be expected to argue her client's innocence. She is...
