

Possible consequences of awarding non compensatory damages for breach of contract on Commercial Law

By Sebastian Röder

GRIN Publishing Nov 2014, 2014. Taschenbuch. Condition: Neu. Neuware - Master's Thesis from the year 2010 in the subject Law - Comparative Legal Systems, Comparative Law, grade: B+, University of Auckland, course: Remedies for breach of contract, language: English, abstract: In the now famous Blake case the majority in the House of Lords has granted a (restitutionary) remedy for a breach of contract which has been alien to the law of contract so far. Although it was held to be available only in exceptional circumstances the judgment prompted Lord Hobhouse to express the following warning in his dissenting opinion: 'If some more extensive principle of awarding non compensatory damages for breach of contract is to be introduced into our commercial law, the consequences will be very far-reaching and disruptive.' It is the goal of this essay to examine whether Lord Hobhouse's fear of a silent reconceptualisation of the law of contract is justified. In order to fully understand the potential impact of the Blake case it is vital to bring oneself to mind what the law of contract was before the judgement in Blake was rendered. Accordingly the essay will start with an outline as to which remedies were and in...
