Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2016. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This Sasha Perlov mystery novel Death and Diamonds continues the exploits of the Russian-born, NYPD detective, son of a Soviet dissident and grandson of the Hero of the Battle of Stalingrad. This time Sasha's Russian cultural and language skills place him in the middle of the murder of a young diamond merchant. The jeweler is a member of an exotic Central Asian Jewish community more Persian than Russian called the Bukharians. The group is linked by international police to Colombian drug dealers. One relative was shot to death on 47th Street in Manhattan's Diamond District before hundreds of unobservant bystanders. Is this second dead jeweler further retaliation by drug lords? Sasha's investigation takes him from the streets of the New Jerusalem (America) to the original Old City as he seeks informants and contacts. The case is baffling. How did a young scholar, father of five children, living in Brooklyn, NY become a diamond courier and for whom? His life seemed so ordinary until he started taking more and more trips to Israel meeting an enigmatic Ubecki multi-millionaire real estate developer. And what of the ties between this Ubecki and an evangelical Christian US Defense Department analyst accused of stealing classified documents from the US government and handing them over to representatives of the state of Israel. Was he being paid by this Ubecki developer to deliver diamonds? What when wrong? Sasha is relentless. He is never satisfied until the case is solved. He hates Loose Ends (the title of the first Sasha Perlov mystery novel). Spies, couriers, hush money and money laundering figure in this mystery novel. What the police originally label a simple...
