Not illustrated. 1910 Excerpt: .for at least three months in an inquirers class, and kept on probation at least six months before being received. It was interesting to us to notice that of the 23 8 were children in the schools; 5 were parents of these children, and probably began their interest through the influence of the schools. Of the entire 24 10 were men, and it has been gratifying to see a marked increase in the attendance of men of the better class. The inquirers classes, of which there were several, were held weekly. Those for men were taught by Mr. Lee; those for women and children by Mrs. Lee and Miss Quinby. Besides these classes Miss Scott had a Bible class for women who are members of the church, and Mr. Lee had a class for men also for Bible study and for studying the problems of personal work. It was found necessary to enlarge the service room to accommodate the increased attendance. A wall was removed and rebuilt, enlarging about one-fourth the seating capacity, and adding greatly to the general appearance and comfort of the room. Mr. Lee, accompanied by Elder Coll, made a short itinerating trip in the July vacation and was much impressed with the ease of reaching numberless large and small villages and towns, and the eagerness and attention with which all listened at the evening meetings held in rooms lent to them. Despite its being the rainy season and the part of the...
