Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Introductory Survey The collection and interpretation of the statistics of education for the entire country is one of the chief functions of the Bureau of Education, and hence importance attaches to recent provision for extending and perfecting this part of the service. The appointment of two additional specialists - in higher education and in school administration - and the formation of a division under each of these specialists has made it possible to cover more completely and adequately these departments of the general educational work of the country. The specialists not only have charge of the work in the office at Washington, but also spend a considerable part of the time in personal investigations in their respective fields. Knowledge thus acquired helps materially in the interpretation of the statistics. The statistical service of the bureau has also been improved by increased cooperation with other bodies engaged in educational investigations. Within the past three months the bureau has had printed and sent to superintendents throughout the United States the form of cumulative pupil record card recommended by the committee on uniform statistics of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association. The returns received from the superintendents indicate a favorable reception of the system. This result could not have been secured without the cooperation of the bureau. With the general use of this card throughout the country it will be possible to study problems of retardation and elimination, of variation in the curriculum, of organization and conduct of special classes, and similar problems from data at once reliable and complete. A copy of the form suggested is given on the following page. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds...
