Peace be to thee, David said gently, as the other passed him. There was an instants pause, and then the monk faced him with fingers uplifted. The Grace of God be upon thee, David, he said, and his eyes, drawn back from the world where they had been exploring, met the others keenly. Then he wheeled and entered the monastery. The grace of God be upon thee, David! How strange it sounded, this Christian blessing in response to his own Oriental greeting, out in this Eastern waste. His own name, too. It was as though he had been transported to the ancient world where Brethren were so few that they called each other by their Christian names—even as they did in Hamley to-day. In Hamley to-day! He closed his eyes, a tremor running through his body; and then, with...
