The first source of information as being the easiest and quickest Credit Infor-of access, is the rate books of the large mation commercial agencies, where can be found the capital and credit rating of every merchant. The next most common source of information is special reports from these agencies, which give detailed statements of the character, resources and situation of a business man. These reports are of value, for they give certain definite data and specific facts, and sometimes include a sworn and signed statement from the man investigated. But these reports are rarely fresh, they are revised confessedly only twice a year, and then undergo a process of rehashing rather than revising. The service of these agencies is...
