Chapman was authorized to accept the risk and execute the contract. q The second defense above mentioned, which is pleaded by the answer, is equally without merit. If the insured concealed any material fact which he should have made known to the company, or if any warranty was broken, the plea interposed fails to show what material fact was so suppressed or what warranty, if any, was broken. Cousleys application for insurance, which is set out in full in the pleadings, contains full and specific answers to all of the questions which the company saw fit to propound, and if any of the answers so made were false, the fact is not averred in the plea. Among other things the insured described his occupation as being that of supervising contractor, and it was while following that occupation that he sustained the injuries which are the subject of this Opinion of the Court. Alleged to have occasioned his death. Moreover, the companys prospectus shows that it made a practice of insuring builders, masons and contractors. Without pursuing the subject at any greater length, it is sufficient to say that the second defense which the company attempted to make was not well pleaded, and the demurrer thereto was properly sustained. It is further assigned for error that the court erroneously instructed the jury with reference to the right of the defendant company to exhume and examine the body of the insured after his death. The facts pertinent to a proper...
