Do you want to hold my hand Davey has one answer for all, Thanks, but no thanks. Davey is blind and he is perfectly capable of doing everything on his own. His well-meaning classmates stop offering help when they see how able Davey is. They respect his self-reliance until he tries to play kickball. After several missed kicks and a trampled base keeper, no one wants Davey on his team. Working together, the children figure out a way to offer help that respects Davey's unique abilities and his desire for freedom. In this seamless tale, based on a true story, the children realize that interdependence can be just as important and rewarding as independence. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
