Reviews

This ebook will be worth acquiring. It is actually written in basic phrases instead of hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

THE GREAT OBSERVATORIES FOR SPACE ASTROPHYSICS (PAPERBACK)

Bibliogov, United States, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The nation's strategy for astrophysics research during the rest of this century and into the next is a coordinated, multispectral examination of the universe. NASA plans to launch a family of large orbital observatories, each tuned to a different part of the electromagnetic spectrum. They are as follows: the Gamma Ray Observatory (GRO); the Advanced X Ray Astrophysics Facility (AXAF); the Hubble Space Telescope (HST); and the Space Infrared Telescope Facility (SIRTF). To complement these sensitive space telescopes, a powerful new radio observatory system is envisioned: the Very Long Baseline Array (VLBA), an intercontinental network of radio telescopes, working with radio observatories in space to perform orbiting very long baseline interferometry (OVLBI). Observing the universe across the spectrum requires different kinds of telescopes based on quite different techniques of detection. An optical telescope has little in common with a gamma ray detector; they do not look alike, nor do they operate on the same principles. No single telescope can answer all the questions or make all the discoveries that await.
