The study of which these pages contain the result was begun immediately after the publication of Dr. Bouquillon s pamphlet. The author, having himself once travelled the same ground, was naturally eager to compare notes with the learned Doctor. He had no intention, however, of rushing into print, especially as he thought he had already said all he had to say on the matter. But believing, as he read, that certain authors with whose teaching he was familiar were misconceived and misconstrued, and judging that some of the leading principles laid down were either false or misleading, and that the whole tenor of the brochure was likely rather to prove detrimental than advantageous to the cause of Catholic education in this country he did finally come to the determination to prepare a review of Dr. Bouquillon s teaching for the press. His work was well nigh finished when, after the conference of the Archbishops held in St. Louis at the beginning of December last, he was given to understand from a reliable source that discussion - at least in the form of personal controversy - was no longer desirable. So he cheerfully shelved his work and devoted himself to more peaceful and congenial occupations. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
