Excerpt from Comparative Chart Showing Length of Time Families Have Lived in Los Angeles: See Chart United States, 2 California Early in the year of 1916 a municipal nurse, who was doing special tuberculosis nursing, invited me to spend a morning with her in home visiting. I found that house after house produced tuberculosis patients, and that one house gave a history in the past two years, of four families in each of which there had been an active case of tuberculosis and of two deaths of tuberculosis. At this time an opportunity presented itself to conduct a clinic at one of the neighborhood schools, for the diagnosis and treatment of tuberculous children. I accepted and spent a half day each week in the examination and treatment of those who had been reported by their teacher or the nurse, and devoted much time to district visiting. It was forcibly brought to my attention that the clinic treatments were relatively useless if the children lived under conditions which produced disease. To get adequate information, a survey of the district was made in the...
