Excerpt from General Biography, or Lives of the Most Eminent Persons of All Ages, Countries, Conditions, and Professions, Vol. 2: Arranged According to Alphabetical Order Soon vanished, and he expired on the night between the 27th and 28th of May, in the sixty ninth year of his age, after having been director of the gymnasium at Berlin twenty six years. He was buried in his garden at midnight, with out pomp or ceremony, according to his own desire expressed in his will. Busching's character is thus drawn by himself. Though candid and open-hearted, affable, ready to assist others, and of a compassionate disposition, I have been compelled by long experience to be harshness to many persons and on various occasions. Sincerely devoted to God through gratitude, and to the Saviour of the world whom I acknowledge without hypocrisy, and without superstitious fear, I am fully convinced by what I have seen and felt that it is by these alone that real and complete happiness can be obtained. I confide in the Supreme Being, and am satisfied with his dispensations. Being of a warm and lively temper, I am subject to momentary passion, but on many occasions I have been accused of passion where I only displayed my usual animation. I am active and quick in my operations, but in some cases suffer myself by these means to be hurried into precipitation. I am firm in my purpose, and even to such a degree, that my resolution has the appearance of obstinacy. I am moderate in all things; contented with little, and master of my appetites. in my intercourse...
