Excerpt from Report on the Agriculture and Industry of the County of Onondaga, State of New York, 1860: With an Introductory Account of the Aborigines IN gathering the materials for a report on the industry of Onondaga county, which was to be prefaced by some account of its early Settlement, it seemed desirable to determine who was the first European that visited it. In settling this point many volumes were consulted, and many interesting facts in regard to the Aborigines were learned, that gradually mingled in the mind of the writer, with things before known by him, and assuming form and method, the whole subject at last took the shape in which it appears in the Introduction. A report on the agricultural and general industry of a county, certainly does not call for a history of the savages who once hunted and fished Within its boundaries, and it was no part of the original purpose to attempt any such matter; but once interested in the subject, it was pursued to the end. In this form the Whole report was submitted to the committee of the society, and by them the Introduction, as well as the Report, was ordered printed.
