Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.I was walking at a rapid pace up the avenue one raw, fall evening, when somewhere near the corner of Fifty--Street I was brought to a sudden stand-still by the sound of a child s voice accosting me from the stoop of one of the handsome houses I was then passing. O sir! it cried, please come in. Please come to grandpa. He s sick and wants you. Surprised, for I knew no one on the block, I glanced up and saw bending from the open doorway the trembling figure of a little girl, with a wealth of curly hair blowing about her sweet, excited face. You have made a mistake, I called up to her. I am not the person you suppose. I am a stranger. Tell me whom you know about here and I will see that someone comes to your grandpa. But this did not satisfy her. Running down the stoop, she seized me by the arm with childish impetuosity, crying: No, no. There isn t time. Grandpa told me to bring in the first...
