Excerpt from A Fortiori Bayesian Inference in Psychological Research Bayes Law, or the law of conditional probability, provides a natural inference framework for one who views hypothesis testing as parameter estimation. Heretofore a major difficulty in applying Bayesian ideas to psychological contexts has been the specification of an objective or public prior. This paper proposes a rule for selecting a prior hypothesis which is both unambiguous and hostile to the research hypothesis: choose the prior so that 1) its expectation is the conventional null value and 2) it has maximum probability of producing the observed data. The rule is employed to develop a complete set of tests for nominal data, and both a one-sample and a two-sample.
