Our prospect was limited to two rows of brick houses and a broad expanse of house-roofs from our room in the upper story. Nobody was in town, but the streets were jammed with carts and children, and the noise and clatter were incessant and deafening. The weather continued most oppressive, Low, dingy clouds possessed the sky, and not a breath of fresh air was attainable. I thought New York a most dectestable summer residence, and resolved to leave it as soon as possible. On the third morning of our sojourn, however, the sky brightened. The sun attempted to shine, and the papers brought good tidings. Lee was retreating, Meade pursuing, the Potomac rising, and oiuspirts rose with it. At breakfast Central Park was...
