

Pediatrics in Practice: A Health Promotion Curriculum for Child Health Professionals (Paperback)

By Henry H. Bernstein

Springer Publishing Co Inc, United States, 2005. Paperback. Condition: New. New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Pediatrics in Practice: A Health Promotion Curriculum for Child Health Professionals is a faculty development health promotion curriculum based on the principles of Bright Futures. Through the resources presented, maternal and child health (MCH) educators can prepare healthcare professionals with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to communicate effectively, partner with, and educate children and families as their advocates to promote health and prevent illness in a time-efficient manner. This innovative curriculum is based on six core concepts that serve as the foundation for effective health encounters: Partnership, Communication, Health promotion/Illness prevention, Time Management, Education, and Advocacy. These six concepts provide the tools for building successful partnerships and promoting positive interactions among health professionals, children, and families during health encounters. By learning how to integrate these core concepts into clinical practice, health professionals can be assured that they are delivering time-efficient health promotion services. This curriculum developed in collaboration with Children's Hospital Boston, Harvard Medical School, and Bright Futures, will be of interest to anyone who cares for pediatric aged children, including all maternal and child health professionals, such as pediatricians, nurses,...
