A KISWAHILI DICTATION SYSTEM

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: VDM Verlag Dr. Müller | Implementation of a Prototype | Dictation is the process of converting language from spoken format to written format. This process is usually carried out manually, that is, a human being listens to speech and then either handwrites or types the equivalent text. Dictation systems are computer based automatic speech recognition systems that are meant to automate this process. Ideally, a dictation system should improve significantly on the speed of the transcription and...
