An indispensable lecture to any gambler, a biographical story about succeeding in having more than an affordable hobby - betting, as making a living out of it turns out to be pretty impossible. Fifteen years of betting have led to this short story of a young adult trying to use it as an easy way of making money. He finds out things aren't as simple as they seemed and, he soon finds himself not only not making it, but losing it. After 11 years of continuous loss, he is now in the position of not being able to lose anymore. The tips, tricks, systems and strategies described here will be mastered and even improved by the readers to their own prosperity. Nevertheless, it is a wonderful combination of storytelling - how-to writing style, which makes the lecture fun and charming.
