Reviews

This publication will never be straightforward to get going on looking at but really fun to see. This can be for all those who statte that there had not been a worth looking at. You wont really feel monotony at at any moment of your own time (that's what catalogs are for about should you request me).

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Gardener s Monthly and Horticultural Advertiser, Vol. 16: Devoted to Horticulture, Arboriculture Rural Affairs Caladium, Rice-paper Papyrus, Cannas, Castor oil plant, Dracaenas, and similar well-known things, are still made use of in the grounds of persons of the highest taste. More is made of succulents for out-door gardening than they used to do in the older time; as they give the needed artificial tone to the small garden. Yuccas and Agaves are common in prominent places, and the various species and varieties of Echeverias come into excellent use. Silvery-leaved plants are very common; indeed it would be very hard to make any rich effect with Coleus and other high colors, without these light-baved things to contrast with them. The old Dusty Miller Cineraria maritima, comes in well for this purpose, - the Chamaepence, Gnaphalium (lanatum,) Centaurea ragusina and C. gymnocarpa, are the leading silver-leaved plants employed. For low variegated plants, the various Teilantheras and Alternantheras, are largely employed, and the Golden Feverfew is almost the only plant we can rely on for a good yellow tint. In a few cases we have seen low growing golden Arborvitae and Retinosporas, used with good effect in flower gardening. Among the novel ideas of the past season was a rather free use of the summer flowering Begonias for bedding. Usually they are kept under glass; but many of them do remarkably well in the full sun in the open ground. Stove plants - at least in the Middle and Southern States, do much better in the open air than people imagine. We saw, the past year, the common Banana growing as common as the Indian corn,...
