Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Happiness of Serving God in Our Daily Employments What sad management are we sometimes obliged to notice in the spiritual treatment of the sick! A parent, or a child, or some relative is very ill, and nigh unto death and how is he treated by the friends and relations around him? Why, they remove out of the sick person's sight every thing that can possibly remind him of his worldly concerns. Now, against this I have not a word to say; it is perfectly right: here is so much the less lumber to divert the sick person from that work of the Holy Spirit upon his heart, which would lead him to think seriously of his situation, and to consider what state he is in with respect to God. But suppose the sick man to have been really governed by the fear of God in his worldly calling; suppose he has lived in the habit of referring all his temporal concerns to the Lord, in prayer; and has made it his aim to follow the Divine will both at...
