About 2300 have been sent forth to distant lands; many of these have traversed the deep more than once; the majority of their voyages have not been made in ocean steamers but in small sailing vessels; and yet how few have been the number of fatal accidents which the Church has had to deplore! Eleven times only have shipwrecks resulted in the loss of lives so dear and valuable. Twelve missionaries and six wives or widows of missionaries have been drowned at sea, and once two dear children shared the fate of their widowed father. Of all the children sent home to Europe for education in charge of friends and accompanied by the prayers of loving, sorrowing parents not one has been suffered to perish at sea. Thousands of our missionaries, whether outward-bound to labours loved or...
