Excerpt from A Lover s Diary: Songs in Sequence AS one would stand who saw a sudden light Flood down the world, and so encompass him, And in that world illumined Seraphim Brooded above and gladdened to his sight; 80 stand I in the ?ame of one great thought, That broadens to my soul from where she waits, Who, yesterday, drew wide the inner gates Of all my being to the hopes I sought. Her words come to me like a summer-song, Blown from the throat of some sweet nightingale; I stand within her light the whole day long, And think upon her till the white stars fail I lift my head towards all that makes life wise, And see no farther than my lady s eyes. Silence sits often on me as I touch Her presence; I am like a bird that hears A note diviner than it knows, and fears To share the larger harmony too much. My soul leaps up, as to a sudden sound A long-lost traveller, when, by her grace, I learn of her life s sweetness face to face, And sweep the chords of sympathies profound. Her regal nature calmly holds its height Above life s din, while moving in its maze. Unworthy thoughts would die within her sight, And mean deeds creep to darkness from her gaze. Yet only in my dreams can I set down The word that gives her nobleness a crown. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
