By Edwin Reed

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Francis Bacon and the Muse of Tragedy In 1653 Gruter finally gave to the world, in a book printed at Amsterdam and entitled Francisci Daconi de Verulamio Scripta in Naturali et Universali Philosophia, nineteen of the manuscripts with which he had been intrusted by Boswell. In an Address to the Reader, prefixed to the volume, he tells us that he and Boswell had had many long, confidential interviews on the subject, in consequence of which, as it appears, some of the papers in the collection were, for reasons not given, withheld from the public. The exact statement is as follows: - All these hitherto unpublished writings you owe, dear reader, to the most noble William Boswell, to whom they were devised by Bacon himself, together with others of a political and moral nature, which are now, by gift of the deceased, in my private keeping, and which are not to be printed for a long time to come. That Gruter regarded these reserved papers, whatever they were, as important, and that he was compelled against...
