Whether you re a parent, teacher, grandparent, counselor, or school volunteer, you will find practical, down-to-earth ideas for creating remarkable relationships with the children in your life. Paul Axtell has spent twenty-five years helping individuals in enhance their personal effectiveness by changing the way they look at relationships and conversation. In this book, he applies that wisdom to navigating life as a parent. He helps you think about your conversations in a new light and guides you toward deeper, more meaningful connections. Father to two wonderful adults and grandfather to thirteen children in his blended family, he knows its never too late to work on creating great relationships. This book should come with every newborn. The new parents would be grateful and so would their children. Donna Hughes, retired nurse, Davenport, IA lve worked with Paul Axtell in the corporate environment and watched some of these same principles strengthen relationships in the workplace. As a father of three teen-aged daughters, I am thrilled to see him extend this work to the family. Read the book. Youll see powerful and immediate results! Phil Eckman, President and CEO, Transamerica Retirement Management Ten Powerful Things not only creates great relationships with kids, it will create great kids. Elle Allison, author of What Wise People Do and Renewal Coaching This book sheds a powerful new light on connecting with your children that is clear and straight-forward. Melissa Thomas, Licensed Professional Counselor, Eugene, OR This should be required reading for every teacher. Kathy Rades, retired teacher, Lakewood, WA This book raises awareness, which creates the opportunity to be more purposeful and intentional about our relationships with our children. A wonderful...
