Reviews

This is the very best publication we have read through right up until now. It is one of the most incredible book we have read through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

He used injections of neutralizing cordial, tinct. opium, and tinct. prickly ash berries. He was fully convinced of the necessity of getting up a copious perspiration. In typhoid cases he pursued an entirely different course. In these cases he first gave stimulants, and failed. He afterwards used mucilage of gura arabic, ice and ice water; he applied externally cloths dipped in ice water and with these applications succeeded in bringing about reaction after failing with ordinary hot applications. Dr. W. also remarked that many cholera cases presented symptoms similar to those described in Woods practice, as belonging to pernicious fever. Dr. Chase stated that the general outlines of the treatment he had pursued resembled that of other Eclectic practitioners. In the early periods of the disease he had used the Leptandrin, combined with Neutralizing Extract very successfully. He thinks opium can be dispensed with in the treatment of cholera altogether. He employed Leptandrin very generally in mild cases--he gave two to three grains dissolved in camphorated spirits or alcohol, and then triturated with sugar, and given once in six hours. Dr. Hunt stated that his experience was in the main the same as that of those who had preceded him, especially was he impressed with the importance of emetics in all cases where there was any evidence of morbid accumulations in the stomach or bowels, and the patients not too much prostrated to forbid their use. He had commenced their administration in the...
