Not illustrated. 1903 Excerpt: .in the President s proclamation of blockade, but which were in communication with Havana. The main object of the blockade was the reduction of Havana by the peaceful though necessarily distressing expedient of cutting off supplies. It was destined to failure unless the cordon about Cuba were extended. The Department therefore determined to recommend the blockade of the coast of Cuba from Cape Francis, near the Yucatan Channel, to Cape Cruz, a short distance to the westward of Santiago. As the vessels carrying supplies to Havana usually entered Batabano, which was in railroad communication with the capital, that port was necessarily included within the limits of the blockade. A few miles from Batabano lies the Isle of Pines. This it was determined to seize for use as a base and harbor of refuge for small vessels operating in its vicinity, and at the time the peace...
