Excerpt from Rfd Letter to Radio Farm Directors From Radio and Television Service: Letter No. 746-749; December 1956 Corn farmers in the 89h commercial corn counties had a different choice. They were choosing between the acreage allotment program such as used before this year and the newer base acreage program offered this past year. Only 61 percent of those voting favored the base-acreage plan for 57. As two thirds of those voting had to approve to make that program effective and only one-third was required for the older allotment plan, the latter plan was chosen. As Secretary Benson pointed out the decision was properly the corn farmers own. He promised that the Department would do all in its power to administer the program constructively. He indicated, however, that there may be serious problems. In commenting on the situation, he said: A prompt and searching appraisal of the entire corn situation, and of program relationships, is needed at this time.
