Excerpt from Charity: A Lecture Before the Robertson Association, Nashville, Tennessee, October 14th, 1858 To illustrate still further. As the, physical world is bound together by the law of attraction, so the moral world is bound together by the law of love. If the law of attraction were suspended, our globe, which is nothing but a mass of atoms held together by attraction, would be dissolved into floating particles, the worlds above us would be unsphered, and in like manner dissolved to atoms. Now let us imagine some mighty wind to represent man s lawless passions, turned loose upon the world, and the wild commotion of the storm-driven atoms could alone parallel the frightful wreck of the moral world without charity. But we do not mean to leave the physical world in atoms and adrift upon the bosom of the storm; we wish now to show with what transporting joy we could look up and see charity, high - throned above the disordered scene, wave her wand of love and still the tempest, reunite the atoms, reen sphere the worlds above, replant the earth beneath our feet, and as it wheels along again exulting round the sun, and radiant with light, let it teach the moral world to make charity its and centre, and always live and move within its light and the sphere of its attraciion.
