None could admire such mists, except some scion Descended from old cloud-kissing Ixion. It might be thought the scullions of the sky Had had a washing-day on high, And hung their dish-clout clouds to drain, not dry; While Earth, in a muddle Of pool and of puddle, Assumed a most bedraggled, miry mien; Such slipping and slopping, And dripping and dropping, Save at the Lakes, was surely never seen. Even the ducks one saw the kennel sucking, Appear d to quake at getting such a ducking, --And, floundering through the slough, each passing man Look d like a sop in Earth s great dripping-pan. And yet in these diminish d inundations, (There never were complete cessations, ) My guides would quit The...
