

One Million Euro (Paperback)

By Rorie Smith

TAN TAN BOOKS, United Kingdom, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .A group of pilgrims led by the long dead poet Walt Whitman and the legendary football manager Sir Roy Babadouche are walking the Camino de Santiago. In the group are Echo the African Autodidact, Jack the Devon publican, and an unlikely bank robber called Oscar Bebbington. Also in the group are a socialist climber called Wilson, a dentist by the name of Denis Dennis and Venezia, a jolie Quebécoise. Two donkeys carry their equipment. They are very modern pilgrims as none of them believes in God. Instead they declare: We are on pilgrimage to regain our humanity. The group start their pilgrimage near Marciac in southern France, crossing into Spain via the Col du Somport. Their journey, a distance of 650 miles, takes them a total of 54 days. One Million Euro recounts their many and strange adventures. During the course of the journey the pilgrims also tell stories of their lives. Some of these stories are true, but others are made up.
