Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Rhode-Island Almanack, for the Year, 1728: Being Bissextile, or Leap-Year; Carefully Fitted, and Exact-Calculated to the Meridian of Newport on Rhode-Island; Whose Latitude North Is 41 Gr; 30 M. Longitude From London, 72 Grs Evans gives the titles of 808 Rhode Island imprints, or about seventy per cent of those in the present list. The concentration of this material in a single building is due largely to the generous co-operation of those who are in charge of the other libraries in Providence. For fifteen years it has been the recognized policy of the librarians of this city to work together in building up each of their collections in certain clearly defined fields, and to avoid all possible duplication of material, with consequent waste of resources. With only two noticeable exceptions, where the wishes of donors prevented this policy from being carried out, the other libraries have systematically contributed to the Rhode Island Historical Society everything that would help to make that institution stronger in its special and appropriate field. In return, the Society has helped to provide every library in the state with a collection of books on Rhode Island history. It has contributed also from its accumulations in other subjects not so properly a part of its own collection, to the libraries of Brown University, the Providence Athenaeum and Public Library, and the State Library. Quite recently it has arranged for the deposit of its large duplicate collection of Rhode Island newspapers with the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, assuring for this state a prominent representation in the principal collection of American newspapers. To the Librarian of that Society, Clarence S. Brigham, the...
